Compare tudo com tudo

The image shows the SciVal Benchmarking interface. At the top, the 'Benchmarking' tab is highlighted with a blue circle and the number 1. A callout box says 'Clique em Benchmarking'. On the left sidebar, the 'Countries and Groups' section is expanded, showing a list of countries with the number 2 next to it. A callout box explains that users can select any type of entity. At the top of the main area, a dropdown menu shows '2007 to 2016' with the number 3 next to it. A callout box explains that users can select any time period. The main area features a line chart titled 'Scholarly Output' with 'Publication Year' on the x-axis and 'Scholarly Output' on the y-axis. A blue arrow points from the number 4 to the chart area, with a callout box explaining that users can choose up to 3 simultaneous metrics. A tooltip for the 'Russian Federation' line shows 'Scholarly Output (2009): 38,438' with the number 5 next to it. A callout box explains that users can hover over lines or points for instant information. On the right, a 'Published' dropdown menu is open, showing various metrics like 'Scholarly Output', 'h-Indices', 'Viewed', etc., with a 'Choose metric' button at the bottom.
